

ABSTRACT

A urethane-covered three-piece golf ball with a liquid-filled center, having a combination of center weight, thread windings, dimple configuration and compression that allows it to travel great distances, and to match the classic feel of `Balata` balls, said combination at the same time complying with USGA regulations.